Artist-In-Residence

Since July, Morgan Rhys Tams has been the Artist-in-Residence at the Pandora Arts Collective. Together, the group has been learning stop-motion animation and film making techniques. The group has explored 3D clay animation, paper animation, experimental film animation, pixelation, and many other concepts.

Morgan has had great success building community through art. "The engagement from the group has been fantastic," he says. This was a phenomenal opportunity for our members to experience working in animate media. "He was totally into my vision," says Devorah, "He never once trampled on my vision." All of us at PACS would like to show our appreciation for Morgan's warmth and generosity and dedication in sharing his skills. He brought vitality to our studio and we are very thankful for all his fabulous work.

Additionally, Morgan has created the Fernwood Community Animation Project where 100 members of the Fernwood Community have collaborated on a short animated film about the neighbourhood. Be sure to come to Morgan's screening of a short documentary work-in-progress about Pandora Arts Collective at our Bonding Through Art show on December 14th.
